

As COVID-19 is affecting our lives and continues to evolve daily, it is imperative that landscapers implement safe operating procedures and Best Management Practices.

Don't forget: PLANTS are GOOD for your WELL BEING!

As landscapers, we can help to maintain healthy gardens and look after the surrounding environment while providing mental health benefits for communities and sustainable jobs. The first priority is the safety of staff, clients and the community as a whole.

What we are doing?

- We are keeping the required distance and stay on top of regulations as much as we can.
- We are not having contact with the public, we will not be talking to you in person. We ask you stay inside while we work. Please call _____ or email _____.
- Our teams are keeping away from one another we don't travel to our job sites or eat together. We are sanitizing our tools, trucks, and hands.

Why we are out and about?

We need to ensure your plants are healthy and continue to thrive. A maintained landscape contributes to mental health benefits; should lawns become long and overgrown they become fire hazards, may attract pests or vermin, and have negative effects on the mental well-being of residents.

Unmaintained buildings or residences may also experience an increase in crime, such as burglaries, further decreasing neighborhood safety and morale.

Some landscapers can check on seniors (from a distance, of course), and empty homes where owners can't be there due to travel or other restrictions. This ensures insurance requirements are met by having someone on site regularly.

What do plants do?

Remember plants are an oxygen source, they provide a positive overall happiness in well-being. When you are outdoors you expand your lungs, and your vision. After we leave your yard please come out and enjoy what we have maintained for you - and please stay healthy and well.
